WATERCOLORS

These are copies of some of the watercolor paintings that I did when I was a Postdoctoral Research Associate in the Radiation Chemistry Laboratory at the University of Notre Dame. I continued to pursue painting after accepting a position in the Chemistry Department at Marian College in Indianapolis, Indiana.

These are simply to preserve them for my children and grandchildren and to provide an insight into a part of me that they may not have known about.

I hope they enjoy seeing what Papa did when he was younger.
